

Natalie Leslie is a candidate for the Delegate at Large of Pennsylvania Chapter of National Organization for Women (NOW). She currently serves as the Youth Feminist Chair of Southwest PA NOW chapter.

Natalie recently graduated from Blackhawk High School in 2021 and was one of four to receive the Beaver Valley Branch of the American Association of University Women scholarship awarded to Beaver County students. She plans to become a political journalist after graduating from Penn State University where she is currently enrolled as a first-year student.

She is an activist, advocating to dismantle racism and how to be a good antiracist ally. Her Op-ed regarding this issue was published in the Beaver County Times on June 28, 2020. As a High School junior she also helped organize and participate in the sister march in Beaver County to the annual Women's March held in Washington, D.C. Natalie Leslie believes America needs empowered, intrepid female leaders now more than ever. She stated at the march that "Sexism, homophobia and racism seem like issues we should have been done with ages ago," and "We need to vote and encourage others to vote."
